Victor Lee Lewis, an internationally recognized leader in the field of diversity and social justice education, presents a free public lecture at 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 11 in Jemez Rooms 1 and 2 on the Santa Fe Community College campus, 6401 Richards Ave. Titled “The Power, the Promise and Poignancy of Diversity in the 21st Century,” Lewis’ talk focuses on improving well-being by quieting fears and single-mindedness. A veteran diversity worker, Lewis specializes in teaching individuals and organizations to better understand, heal and dismantle racism, sexism, anti-Semitism, homophobia and other schisms that undermine organizations and communities. He is co-author of “Lessons from the Color of Fear,” an influential four-volume curriculum series, and narrator of the acclaimed documentary “The Color of Fear.” For more information, call 428-1665.
