Students from SFCC Electronic Music Class Perform at Santa Fe Complex

Santa Fe, NM, Nov. 22, 2010 — Students from Santa Fe Community College’s “Introduction to Reason and Live” class bring their electronic musical wizardry to the Santa Fe Complex (632 Agua Fria Street) with a “high desert electronic psycho beach party” performance. The event is held at 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 10 and is free and open to the public. The performance features compositions made using electronic music software Reason and Ableton Live, the same music software utilized by top electronic artists and DJs worldwide. The show is a culmination of a semester’s worth of class work and counts toward a final grade. The students, many of whom are musicians and DJs, will perform music in a variety of electronic music genres. “Introduction to Reason and Live” is offered as part of the college’s Media Arts Department and is offered again in the spring. For more information, call (505) 577-8036.
