Juried Student Exhibition at SFCC Visual Arts Gallery: May 14 through Aug. 10

Santa Fe, NM, May 4, 2009 — Santa Fe Community College's Visual Arts Gallery hosts an exhibition by students of the School of Arts and Design, May 14 through Aug. 10. The exhibition opens Thursday, May 14, from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m., and features selections from coursework in architecture, book arts, ceramics, drawing, fashion/interior design, fine woodworking, jewelry, painting, photography, printmaking and sculpture.

John Addison, director of Chiaroscuro Contemporary Art Gallery in Santa Fe, will make determinations for "best of" selections in various categories. Awards for Best in Show honors will be provided by Artisan, Santa Fe Jewelers Supply, New Mexico Clay, Alpine Builders Supply and Santa Fe Camera Center. As an additional award, the School of Arts and Design will purchase exemplary student work for its permanent collection.

SFCC's School of Arts and Design offers comprehensive coursework in dance, drama and performance, in addition to fine arts and design. New associate degree programs in professional crafts, photography, architecture and fine arts augment the existing gallery management degree.

In addition, University of New Mexico offers a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree on the SFCC campus, which utilizes the community college's premier studios and labs.

The Visual Arts Gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and located on the SFCC campus, 6401 Richards Ave. For more information, call (505) 428-1501.
