SFCC Performing Arts Spring Showcase Highlights Local Talent

Santa Fe, NM, April 24, 2009 – Santa Fe Community College students in dance, theater and voice hit the stage at this year's "Performing Arts Spring Showcase." The event takes place May 4, 7 p.m., inside El Museo Cultural de Santa Fe, 1615 Paseo de Peralta.

The lively 90-minute showcase features performances by students and faculty members of performing arts classes within SFCC's School of Arts and Design. The evening is open to the public and admission is free.

This year's program includes performances in belly dance, hip-hop, swing, salsa, ballet, modern and flamenco. Acting performances include scenes from "Our Lady of 121st Street" and "Long Day's Journey into Night," as well as a musical rendition of "I'm a Big Girl Now" from the musical "Hairspray."

In addition to dance, theater and music, SFCC's School of Arts and Design offers a variety of degrees, certificates and courses in fine arts and design, including sculpture, photography, photography, interior design, fashion design, jewelry, fine woodworking, printmaking, book arts and ceramics.

For more information, call (505) 428-1731 or visit www.sfccnm.edu.
